Kingston Handle Manufacturing Company Will Produce Baseball Bat Parts; Air Forces Veteran Is Executive

The Kingston Handle Manufacturing Co., headed by Major Verne W. Bohneke, a veteran flyer of World War 2, and William Tacorchick, has been located in Kingston for the manufacture of shovel and farm tool handles, baseball bat billets, and lumber. It was announced today by the Chamber of Commerce.

The new concern is now having a mill and warehouse erected on a plot of ground at the intersection of Route 9-W and the Neighborhood road in the town of Ulster, and it is expected the buildings will be ready shortly after the first of the year.

The plant under construction is 40x120 feet with an annex 24x50 feet. An additional building will be erected for warehouse purposes, 40x100 feet.

The real estate transaction was closed by John A. Cole, realtor at 288 Wall street.

The new concern plans to employ approximately 30 men at the start, and that number is expected to be tripled during 1946. Major Bohneke has been engaged in similar type of work for the past 23 years, with the exception of the past four years when he served as pilot in the U. S. Army Air Corps. Three of the four years were spent in the European Theatre of Operations where the major flew all types of aircraft, including heavy and medium bombers and pursuit planes.

Konoye's Memoirs Say U. S. Warned Japs in July, '41
Prince Felt Confident if He'd Seen F.D.R. War Could Have Been Averted

Tokyo, Dec. 19 (AP)—The United States bluntly warned Japan's envoys on July 21, 1941, that Japanese occupation of French Indo-China—then contemplated—would render any further talk of peace "hopeless," Prince Fumimaro Konoye, then premier, wrote in his memoirs.

He credited the statement to Sumner Welles, then U. S. under-secretary of state. The memoirs were released to The Associated Press three days before Konoye's suicide Sunday.

Yet a full month after that warning, he wrote, "America and Japan seemed nearest to averting the war. The late President Roosevelt on August 28, 1941, Konoye said, expressed a desire to meet personally with the prince to settle the differences which were swinging the two nations in conflict."

Konoye made the original proposal for such a meeting with the consent of the emperor, he wrote. Summoning Ambassador Nomura, who delivered Konoye's proposal for the meeting, Roosevelt was quoted as saying "I desire a meeting of about three days with prince Konoye."

The ex-premier told how he broke up the second cabinet with Emperor Hirohito's knowledge and consent on July 16, solely to rid it of Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka.

Satisfied the United States would understand his "friendly gesture" in reforming the cabinet, Konoye turned again to negotiations and to his "disarm" toward Ambassador Nomura had failed to catch that significance himself.

In the memoirs state, in fact, Konoye said Nomura suggested that the United States was more suspicious than ever.

Planning More
According to the memoirs, the United States learned that Japan was planning to move into Indo-China and on July 21, Sumner Welles, then United States under-secretary of state and acting for Cordell Hull who was ill, warned that "according to information received it seems that Japan will occupy French Indo-China soon. If so, conversations will become hopeless."

Highland Fire Loss Is $150,000; Businesses Ruined

Water Supply Exhausted, Unofficial Report Says; Aid Is Rushed

Damage estimated conservatively at $150,000 destroyed a large part of the business area in the village of Highland today, according to Corporal William Martin of the State Police.

Three families and one man lost all their possessions. There was no loss of life in the fire which began at 12:30 o'clock in the David Sperling five-and-ten cent store.

Businesses destroyed were Sperling's; the Howard Thompson electrical store, next door to Sperling's; the Esposito building, next to Thompson's, in which was housed Albert DeLuca's grocery business; the Samuel Crimo dress factory with all equipment; Bob's Meat Market was damaged.

Families who lost everything were the Peter Sitera, the Tony Stellars, the Albert DeLuca and Hubert Gowitz.

Air Forces Would Get Equality

Integrated Plans, One Program and Budget, Civilian Control Are Factors

Has 9 Arguments
National Resources Care Ranks Among His Proposals

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—President Truman called today for merger of the army and navy into a single department of national defense with the air forces fully equal to the land and sea arms.

Stepping squarely into the middle of the long and bitter struggle between the army and navy commands, Mr. Truman followed in virtually every detail the official War Department plan for unification.

And he dashed one prime navy hope by declaring in a special message to Congress:

"Further studies of the general problem would serve no useful purpose."

Navy witnesses appearing at Senate Military Committee hearings on the merger proposal have pleaded against hasty action and urged additional studies of all phases of unification.

Declaring that "I urge this as the best means of keeping the peace," Mr. Truman proposed that the new defense department be headed by a single cabinet member operating with one under-secretary and several assistant secretaries, all civilians.

There would be a departmental chief of staff, with a commander for each of the three component branches—army, navy and air. Either the President or the Secretary of Defense could take up directly with the separate commanders matters of basic military strategy and policy and the division of the department's budget.

Carlan Baby's Death Cause Cited

Asphyxiation, Respiratory Infection Are Listed on Autopsy

Chelsea, Mass., Dec. 19 (AP)—Medical examiner William J. Brickley reported today that baby Ronald Carlan died of "asphyxiation and acute general respiratory infection."

Brickley, in a preliminary report on an autopsy on the six-months old baby whose "kidnaping" became one of New England's greatest hoaxes of recent years, "old District Attorney William J. Foley that asphyxiation could have been caused when the baby might have turned over face down in his crib."

The baby was reported kidnapped on November 23 by his mother, Mrs. Rose Carlan, 23, wife of a navy enlisted man. She told police later the baby actually had died four days previously, and that she had hidden the body under the drawers of a china closet in her bedroom-dining room.

Dr. Brickley said the baby had suffered four separate attacks of pneumonia.

Ph. 252

CANDIDATE—Eleanor Cahill, from Coronado, Calif., is a contender for queen of the N. Y. press photographers' ball.

Veteran Loses Wallet; Its Return Is Asked

A recently discharged veteran had the misfortune Tuesday to lose his wallet which contained a check for back-pay, mustering out pay and other important papers which are of the utmost value to him.

The wallet contained all the veteran's available funds and unless it is returned to him prospects for a happy Christmas are dim.

Anyone finding the wallet may return it to the Veterans Bureau at 240 Fair street and it will be returned. It is believed the wallet was lost in an uptown store.

Truck Down Bank

While Guy Crew, of Newburgh, driver of a Turco Transportation Co. milk truck, was switching gas tanks as he drove along Route 9-W, just north of the Lake Katrine State Police barracks this morning he lost control of the truck and it ran off the highway and down a bank. No one was injured. Crew was proceeding south at the time. The accident happened at about 3:30 o'clock and was reported to the State Police barracks and word was sent to the trucking company at Highland Mills.

with State Police, private homes or business houses in Highland were futile. The Kingston office of the New York Telephone Company said all telephones in the Highland area were out of order.

Corporal Martin was reached through the courtesy of the Central Hudson, who have a private wire into Highland.

The Poughkeepsie fire department, which sent equipment, in addition to aid sent from Esopus and New Paltz, said a report had been given that the fire was in The Fair Store and that it was thought the business block in which the store was located was endangered.

Another source, unofficial, said the Highland firemen had used all available water sources, and were apparently without any other means of combatting the fire.

Milton telephone lines also were reported out of order.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—Rails, rubbers, aircrafts, utilities and retail stores advanced fractions to more than a point in today's quiet Stock Market dealings.

After Monday's sharp selloff, most categories in the list continued to recover modestly. A few jaggeds appeared among metals, steels, oils and miscellaneous industrials.

Higher near the fourth hour were Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, Oliver Corp., Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, United Air Lines, American Water Works, U. S. Gypsum, Santa Fe, Northern Pacific, Texas Co., and American News.

Hesitant were General Motors, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak and Standard Oil (N.J.).

Western Union was up slightly despite an American Federation of Labor statement that union employees planned a nationwide walkout of 48,000 members on the morning of January 7.

Pearl Committee Calls Session to Decide Duration

Hot Fight Might Come in Congress Over Issue; Messages Are Read

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Pearl Harbor Committee called an executive session for late today to consider how much longer the five-week-old inquiry shall continue—a question that may eventually bring on a hot fight in Congress.

This was disclosed by Chairman Barkley (D-Ky.), as the Senate House investigators received records showing that in the spring of 1941 the Japanese were convinced that the United States was reading some of their secret codes.

Barkley, who returned to the committee after several days illness, did not confirm reports that Democrats will favor only a 30-day extension of the hearing beyond January 3, the date originally set for its conclusion.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) is opposed to such a limitation, saying the inquiry should go on as long as necessary. He has estimated this may take an additional 60 or 90 days.

Committee Counsel William D. Mitchell and his staff have served notice they intend to quit early in January. Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) told reporters there was little chance of persuading the legal staff to continue beyond that time.

Mitchell read into the record today copies of intercepted messages between Tokyo and Berlin and between Tokyo and Washington. These showed:

On May 3, 1941, Berlin advised Tokyo that the German Intelligence Service had finally reliably established that the U. S. government was reading Japanese Ambassador Nomura's code messages from Washington to Tokyo.

The Japanese embassy here reported to Tokyo on May 5, 1941 that the "most stringent precautions" were being taken.

On May 20, the embassy reported the discovery that the U. S. is "reading some of our codes." As to how, the embassy said it would inform Tokyo by courier "or some other safe means."

Another message about the same time reported that the Japanese Navy "S" code had been seized from one of its ships "in a foreign port."

All these messages were long before the Pearl Harbor attack of December 7, 1941. Other evidence in the committee's files shows that the Japanese either did not change their codes, or if they did, that the United States managed to break new ones.

Golden Rule Inn Property Is Sold By Diabetes Ass'n

of the inn property by the New York Association, Commissioner Singer stated that he knew the property had been offered for sale and had been purchased by a New York corporation which intended to operate it as a hotel.

Mr. Singer said that he had sold only 12 acres of land to the association and still owned 144 acres of land adjoining Mirror Lake, which he intends to develop into a bungalow colony as soon as lumber and building materials are available. At the present time Mr. Singer is erecting a six-room brick all year around camp on the bank of the lake which he will use as his own personal camp. As soon as building materials are available he will erect fifty bungalows on the land he now owns around Mirror Lake to the south of the former Golden Rule Inn along Route 9-W.

In addition to the 144 acres of land which Mr. Singer owns along the shores of Mirror Lake, he also owns about 40 acres of land to the west of Route 9-W between the present alignment of the highway and old Route 9-W.

Mr. Singer said that he intended to begin the development of the bungalow colony around the lake as soon as building materials were available.

The Christmas Shine!
I like Christmas best of all the days;
It sparkles and there are so many ways
To make each other glad to make eyes shine
I like to watch the eyes that look in mine.

Grow bright, because I do some little thing;
I give a gift perhaps remembering
Someone who would not have a gift at all.
A simple thing that may be very small
But it makes eyes shine, then I say
That I have helped to brighten Christmas Day.
For shining eyes have always seemed to me
Like stars or like the tinsel on our tree.

Teacher — Children, what is wrong with this sentence? "Girls is naturally better looking than boys."
Junior — Girls is artificially better looking than boys.
Where there is a will there are dissatisfied relatives.

Grandpa — I saw my first pin-up girl back in '35.
Grandson (just discharged from the Army) — Who was she, Gramps?
Grandpa — A country school teacher who tried to hop a barbed wire fence on her way to the school house.

Wife — Her niece is good looking, too.
Husband — Don't say knees is, dear, say knees are.
A Doctor who was attending a Good Cheer Christmas party offerred free advice to the crowd: "To avoid trouble—and keep in good health—breathe through the nose—it keeps the mouth shut."

This Shortage Hurts
I got a lovely Christmas tree and trimmed it, by myself;
I brightened up with greenery each doorway and each shelf.
I bought a sprig of mistletoe and hung it on the light.
It's just a wishful dream, you know; there's not a man in sight.

A woman arrived for the Christmas wedding late. As she came rushing up to the door, an usher approached her for her invitation:

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

Woman (snapping). — I have none!
Usher—Are you a friend of the groom?
Woman (vehemently)—I should say not! I'm the bride's mother!

John Amery Dies As British Traitor

One-Time Playboy Hangs
at Prison; Fifth
Civilian to Die

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—John Amery, 33-year-old son of a former British cabinet member, was hanged at Wandsworth prison today for high treason to his king and country.

The one-time playboy, convicted of broadcasting Nazi propaganda from Europe during the war, went to the gallows at 9 a. m. (4 a. m. Eastern Standard Time).

Led from a cell next to that of William (Lord Haw Haw) Joyce, awaiting death for the same offense, the high-born traitor was executed under a clear sky after a night of drizzling rain.

The trap was sprung by Albert Pierrepont, famed British hangman, who last week executed Josef Kerner and 10 other members of the Belsen gang in Germany. Amery was the fifth British civilian to die for treason committed during World War II. Witnesses testified at the trial of Amery, son of L. S. Amery, former secretary of state for India and one-time first lord of the admiralty, that he had been selected by the Germans to be the British Quisling.

Amery's actress wife, Una Wing, and his brother left the prison about an hour before the hanging. His parents visited the prison last night.

Share-the-Home Move Might Be Requested

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—Metropolitan New York's housing shortage has become so critical it may become necessary to ask families in the area to share their homes with veterans, says Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, chairman of the New York City Veterans Service Committee.

She declared in a statement yesterday that no matter what emergency measures were taken to ease the shortage there would not be enough homes available to meet demands of ex-servicemen and their families.

Vet Decorates For Christmas At Local Church

C. F. Seeger Awaiting Discharge Resumes
Peacetime Duty
at St. James

For several years C. Fred Seeger of 232 Elmendorf street has helped in arranging the Christmas decorations for St. James Methodist Church, of which he is a member. Then, nearly three years ago, he entered the service of Uncle Sam, and Christmas time a year ago found him overseas as P.F.C. Seeger, a member of the 68th Division, combat engineers.

Under the circumstances he could not be of material assistance in helping with the holiday decoration back home, but his thoughts were here and as a result when he found spare time he worked on a plan for arranging the decorations in his old home church.

P.F.C. Seeger wasn't too near home this holiday season—he still is stationed at the War College in Washington, awaiting discharge, having returned to this country in October—but that didn't deter him. For the past three week-ends he has made the long trip from Washington, put in all his spare time, including a good portion of the nights, working at the church to carry out his decorative scheme and getting back to his post early Monday mornings.

As a result of P.F.C. Seeger's planning and personal effort the large auditorium of St. James Church wears one of the finest Christmas dresses with which it ever has greeted the holiday season, according to the expressed opinions of members of the congregation. "It's exceptionally nice," said one of the members, as he commented on the artistic arrangement of the decorations and the completeness with which the plan has been carried out.

Within the chancel good-sized Christmas trees have been erected at either end, flanked by smaller trees, all sparkling with decorations and ornaments, with poinsettias arranged about their bases and also about the organ.

Along the east and north sides of the auditorium, running back from the altar, huge red candles, surmounted by lights, feature the decorative effect, Christmas trees being interspersed between the candles, with large poinsettias. A large brass bowl filled with poinsettias also stands at the base of the altar.

One of the most artistic decorative effects has been achieved along the face of the balcony extending around the rear of the auditorium. Festoons of laurel, in long loops, have been used, with wreaths of pine at intervals. Bows of red ribbon set off the wreaths, while circlelets of small blue lights have been arranged around the circumference of each one, giving a very attractive effect. Along the top of the balcony small clumps of evergreen, each with three lighted red candles in the center, completes the artistic arrangement.

In addition to the decorations in the auditorium, arranged by P.F.C. Seeger, the spirit of Christmas, embodied in decorated trees, is in evidence in the various rooms of the Sunday school. In the main room an immense Christmas tree, a balsam that stands some 25 feet high and has a width of about 15 feet at the base, has been erected. Pastor Williams is being given credit for negotiating the transfer of this fine large tree from the lawn it formerly adorned at Bearville. The Rev. Mr. Williams learned

Social Security Hours During the Holidays

Charles E. Burke, manager of the Kingston Field Office of the Social Security Board, Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, today announced office hours for the holiday period: Monday, the 24th and Tuesday, the 25th. Open Wednesday through Saturday, December 26-28. New Year's: Closed Monday, the 31st and Tuesday, the 1st. Open Wednesday through Saturday, January 2-5. Starting with the week of January 6, 1946 the office hours will return to the usual schedule of 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. each week day except Saturday. Mr. Burke expressed the hope that this schedule change would cause no inconvenience in the handling of Old-Age and Survivors insurance problems.

HEAD MAN

New York, (AP)—When the chaplain at a Long Island Coast Guard base is away on brief leaves, he hangs this sign on his office door: "Chaplain's gone ashore. Take your troubles to God."

The American Infantry Division, the only one assigned overseas during the war without an official number, derives its name from a combination of the words America and New Caledonia.

Molotov Is Host At Luncheon to Byrnes and Bevin

Byrnes Expects to Talk to Stalin; Atomic Energy Talks Scheduled

Moscow, Dec. 19 (AP)—Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov entertained Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin at lunch today before their formal conversations, in which the atomic bomb was reported to be of uppermost importance.

The luncheon was given at Speridionika Palace with the full American and British delegations attending.

A spokesman at the United States Embassy said Byrnes expected to confer with Generalissimo Stalin, recently returned from an extensive vacation. Neither Byrnes nor Bevin has yet seen the Russian leader.

Gen. Georges Catroux, French ambassador to Russia, conferred with Byrnes for 15 minutes during the morning at Spassko House in what was described as a "friendly" talk. Byrnes saw the Chinese Ambassador for a half hour Monday.

The question of control of Japan appeared to be one of the topics of the "exploratory" talks.

Although the talks were cloaked in the strictest secrecy, observers attached significance to the fact that one of the advisors of Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov at yesterday's conference was Y. A. Malik, last Russian ambassador to Japan.

Confers With Carter

They also pointed out that U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes conferred yesterday morning with John Carter Vincent, head of the Far Eastern section of the State Department, as well as Dr. James B. Conant, atomic expert of the American delegation. Vincent later accompanied Byrnes to the meeting of the foreign ministers.

Another question reported to be high on the agenda was the Iranian problem. Both Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin conferred with their Iranian experts shortly after publication of a new statement by Iranian Prime Minister Ibrahim Hakimi Yesterday Appealing to the United States, Great Britain and Russia to Withdraw Their Troops from Iran.

There was no announcement after yesterday's meeting, which lasted three hours and 15 minutes—the longest since Molotov, Byrnes and Bevin started their discussions Sunday. Informed quarters said, however, that they were well along on the main questions which brought them together.

Persons present at the gathering emphasized again the cordial atmosphere which prevailed and said this was indicative that all was going well. The progress so far was pictured as follows: The first session was taken up with routine procedural matters, the second was devoted to filling papers by all three sides and getting the discussions lined up, and the third was devoted to exploration of the issues.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed by the American and British embassies that Byrnes and Bevin expect to pay courtesy calls on Generalissimo Stalin, who returned Monday from a 68-day vacation. It was recalled that Cordell Hull and Anthony Eden paid such calls when they were here in October, 1943, for a "Big Three" foreign ministers' meeting.

Infantile Group Plans Drive at Dinner Tuesday

March of Dimes Will Be Held in January Also Ball to Raise Funds

The annual dinner meeting of Ulster County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday evening with 45 attending. Plans were formulated for the March of Dimes campaign to be held in January.

Robert L. Rhinehart, president of the chapter, introduced Mayor William F. Edelmann who praised the work of the various committees.

In speaking of the need of funds to combat the disease, Mr. Rhinehart reported that in one case of infantile paralysis in the city the expenses amounting to $3,000 were paid from funds of the local chapter. A modern type respirator has been purchased for use in any of the hospitals in the city or county and others will be secured for use in the other hospitals as needs require. The funds collected in the March of Dimes campaign also makes possible the purchase of certain forms of braces and special shoes for the afflicted after they are well enough to return to their homes.

Dr. John F. Larkin, city health officer, spoke of the work of the respirator and demonstrated with a machine which is operated. Further details for the campaign will be announced. The annual ball will be held January 31.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Better Late

Dearborn, Mo., Dec. 19 (AP)—Dr. F. L. Durham arrived at a farm home near here ten minutes too late to deliver a baby daughter to Mrs. Cecil Foster, but just in time to discover a fire in the home. The doctor bundled the mother and baby in blankets, and as the flames destroyed the farmhouse, rushed the mother and infant to a St. Joseph, Mo., hospital, where both are reported doing nicely.

Scram!

Phedale, Wyo., Dec. 19 (AP)—Elks are the most surprised crit-ters around here these days—they're being "dive-bombed" by the State Game and Fish Department. Jack Turner, former Eighth Air Force combat pilot, has been hired to herd elk from the air. He dives his plane toward the animals when he spots them feeding at haystacks on private property.

Number, Please

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 19 (AP)—Illinois motorists, applying for 1946 license plates, didn't want any part of the number "13," says Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett.

Some 50,000 motorists had put in requests for the first 10,000 numbers, he said. The most popular numbers? Seven and eleven.

He Asked for It

Milwaukee, Dec. 19 (AP)—George

M. Lisatz, 47, told District Judge Harvey L. Neelen that when he told some men in a tavern at 1 a. m., that he had no place to sleep they suggested he turn in a fire alarm and he would be assured a night's lodging.

He said he followed their suggestion and turned in an alarm and was given a place to sleep—in jail.

Judge Neelen said he would be sleeping in jail for the next 30 days, the sentence for turning in a false fire alarm.

Period of Grace Given For Men Enlisting Now

New York, Dec. 19—Men enlisting for reenlisting in the regular army on and after today until Christmas will not have to leave for duty until December 26, it was announced today by the U. S. Army Recruiting Service for New York, New Jersey and Delaware.

Men signing up during the period will immediately be authorized a delay which will enable them to stay home for the holiday. Starting December 26, men will report for duty as soon as enlistments and reenlistments are completed.

This ruling permits a former service man whose 20 day period of grace expires just before the holiday to enlist or reenlist within the time limit in order to retain his grade, and at the same time be permitted to spend the Christmas holiday at home.

Esopus Legion Gives Report on Party

Esopus Township Post 1298, American Legion, held its regular December meeting last week at St. Leo's Hall, Port Ewen.

Taking an important place on the program was the report of the chairman of the card party committee. Vice Commander Cameron. He said the party held last month in Port Ewen had been satisfactory both from a social and financial standpoint. Wilbur Matthews who was treasurer of the card party made his report which showed that a gross income of $621.95 had been realized. After expenses the post received a net return of $481.26. Commander P. J. Beichert congratulated those who had worked on the various committees.

It was reported that arrangements had been made to send the wife and children of one disabled veteran to spend Christmas with him at the hospital, since he could not be brought home. It was voted that a donation be made to the State Legion "Going Home Fund." A set of colors for the post was ordered for the January meeting, at which time the County Legion Organization will meet with Esopus Post.

Fourteen new members were admitted, including one who transferred from Paris, France. Post 1. Wilbur Matthews was elected post historian. Refreshments were served by Bob Doyle and a social hour was enjoyed.

Sale of Elmira Club To St. Louis Approved

Elmira, N. Y., Dec. 19 (AP)—Purchase of the franchise and players of the Elmira Eastern League baseball club by the St. Louis American League club today had the approval of the Elmira Board of Directors.

The directors approved the $7,500 purchase price yesterday but stipulated that if the Browns withdrew from the Eastern League the franchise would be resold to the Elmira Area Baseball Club, Inc., operators of the Pioneers, for the same price.

The Elmira club had operated as a community organization for the past three years, under a working agreement with the Philadelphia American League Club for two seasons and with the Browns in 1945.

Larger Purses Avert 'Silent Strike' at Track

Miami, Fla., Dec. 19 (AP)—Minimum purses of $2,000 were in effect at Gulfstream Park today, and as the increase came in threats of a horsemen's "silent strike" were dissipated.

Whopping big fields—each of the first seven races had 12 entries and the eighth had nine—told more about the horsemen's attitudes than a statement issued after a meeting saying "all is harmony."

A remaining complaint against the State Racing Commission for alleged "anti-strike legislation" and a "bag rule" also had prospects of solution with word that a commission meeting would be held January 2 to discuss the matter.

Better Bowling By Billy Sixty

Fine Form, Excellent bowling form can be developed regardless of how many steps are taken, but only if the stance—the starting position—is always assumed at the same spot on the alley so that the finish of the stride will be at the same spot at the foul line.

As is so convincingly illustrated in the case of world match champions, there is no single or accepted style that leads to high scoring. The three step stride has been proven as effective as the four step, and the upright stance works as well as a semi-crouch. What form to use and what style of individual choice.

Down through the years I have bowled with every match champion dating back to Jimmy Smith, who ruled from 1906 through 1922, and no two looked alike. Smith used a "square" stance, feet together, facing the pins straightaway. He held his ball at about the waistline, set himself carefully, and began the stride with the right foot. Never hurriedly, mind you, but slowly; much as if he were going for a walk. He bent forward just a little and stooped his shoulders just before going into the stride.

An excellent instructor, Smith followed a simple plan of teaching that stressed the importance of the stance. With chalk he would "spot" the distance on the alley that best measured the pupil's length of stride, and he would then put the student through a course of footwork without the ball. The ball came into use only after the pupil could slide unflinchingly into a chalk-marked outline of his foot made by Smith at the foul line. It is an excellent system. (Protected by John F. Dille Co.)

President Calls For Forces Merger

paid a high price for not having it.

No Basis for Fear
The President said there is no basis for fear that an over-all organization would lodge too much power in a single individual. "That the concentration of so much military power would lead to militarism."

"There is no basis for such fear as long as the traditional policy of the United States is followed that a civilian, subject to the President, the Congress and the will of the people, be placed at the head of this department."

Citing what he termed "the most important reasons for combining the two existing departments," Mr. Truman said such a step would:

Strengthen facilities for integrated strategic plans, programs and budgets;

Achieve economies through con-

rol of supply and service functions;
Foster coordination between the military and civilian branches of the government and;
Foster civilian control of the military.

In support of parity for air power, the chief executive said it has been developed to the point where its responsibilities are equal to those of land and sea power "and its contribution to our strategic planning is as great."

He avoided any reference to the Navy's land-based flying activities which were vastly expanded during the war and which have figured in the merger arguments.

Regarding Marine Corps
Of the Marine Corps, the President said that "of course" it "should be continued as an integral part of the Navy."

Emphasizing throughout his message that despite its work for peace, this country must never relax its preparations for war, Mr. Truman said at one point:

"Whatever the form which any future war may take, we know that the men of our separate services will have to work together in many kinds of combinations for many purposes. The Pacific campaign of the recent war is an outstanding example of common and joint effort among land, sea and air forces."

"Despite its successes, the campaign proved that there is no adequate understanding among the officers and men of any service of the capabilities, the uses, the procedures and the limitations of the other services."

He added that with the necessity for allocating limited resources for scientific research, the nation cannot afford to waste anything of this nature in duplicated effort.

As a further argument for unification, the President said that all military authority and all outlying bases should be under a single commander with clear responsibility.

Policies of Promotion
And he added that there should be an end to such different army and navy policies as rates of promotion, ways of selecting officers, granting awards and decorations and point allowances for discharge systems.

The joint chiefs of staff, on which the President's chief of staff and the chiefs of the land, sea and air forces sat, was better than no coordination at all, he said, but added that "the joint chiefs of staff are not a unified command."

During the war, he declared, the principle of unified command went far in the direction of unity in the field, "and we never had comparable unified direction or command in Washington."

Asserting that unification must be looked upon as a long-term job, the President said it is much more than a matter of organization.

"It will require new viewpoints, new doctrine and new habits of thinking throughout the departmental structure. But in the comparative leisure of peacetime . . . we should start at once to achieve the most efficient instrument of national safety."

army's reluctant consent to the proposed meeting. But Tojo sternly warned that unless Roosevelt could be made to see Japan's true spirit in negotiations and make concessions which Japan considered mandatory, then he for one was ready for war.

President's Arguments For Unification of Forces

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—President Truman underlined nine arguments for "combining the War and Navy Departments into one single department of national defense" in his message to Congress today.

In his own words they were:
We should have integrated strategic plans and a unified military program and budget.

We should realize the economies that can be achieved through unified control of supply and service functions.

We should adopt the organizational structure best suited to fostering coordination between the military and the remainder of the government.

We should provide the strongest means for civilian control of the military.

We should organize to provide parity for air power.

We should establish the most advantageous framework for a unified system of training for combined operations of land, sea and air.

We should allocate systematically our limited resources for scientific research.

We should have unity of command in outlying bases.

We should have consistent and equitable personnel policies.

Seven Details Specified

The President specified seven details for the unification: There should be a single department of national defense. The head of this department should be a civilian. Under him there should be a civilian under-secretary and several civilian assistant secretaries.

There should be three coordinated branches of the department: one for the land forces, one for the naval forces, and one for the air forces, each under an assistant secretary.

The under-secretary and the remaining assistant secretaries should be available for assignment to whatever duties the President and the secretary may determine.

The President and the secretary should be provided with ample authority to establish central coordinating and service organizations.

There should be a chief of staff. There should also be a commander for each of the three component branches—army, navy and air.

The chief of staff and the commanders of the three coordinate branches should together constitute an advisory body to the secretary and to the President. It would be wise if the post of chief of staff were rotated among the several services, whenever practicable, and advisable.

Lt. Camper Has Dillon's Place At Stewart Field

Bill Stern's Sports Associate at NBC Returning to Civilian Life

Stewart Field, Dec. 19—Lt. Donald C. Camper has been appointed public relations officer for this post, and assistant at the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, to replace Capt. John J. Dillon, who acted in that capacity since April 1943.

Capt. Dillon is to be relieved of military duties and return to civilian life presently. Before enlisting in 1942, he was an announcer and writer in the sports department of the National Broadcasting Co. He is a Fordham University graduate.

Working out of the Radio City office, Dillon wrote and announced sports programs all over the country as assistant to Bill Stern, popular sportscaster and NBC sports chief. The captain kept in touch with broadcasting by announcing army's home football games from Michie Stadium, West Point.

Captain Dillon has many friends in Kingston, having visited this city on a number of occasions during which the Stewart Field Band played here for patriotic events and War Bond rallies. He also was guest speaker at service clubs and civic gatherings.

The new public relations officer, Lt. Camper, was engaged in newspaper work prior to entering army. He was circulation manager of the Chico Daily Enterprise, Chico, Calif., his native city. Lieutenant Camper received his commission at Craig Field, Selma, Ala., in June 1943. Since then he has been a flying instructor at Stewart Field. He has held several other assignments on this field as chief of Link Trainer section and Training Aids officer.

Wainwright Deposition Will Be Presented

Manila, Dec. 19 (AP)—Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, by deposition, will be one of the principal witnesses at the war crimes trial of Lt. Gen. Masa Haru Homma, to whom he was forced to surrender, but to whom he never bowed even as a captive.

Wainwright's deposition will be one of the principal documents submitted to the military commission which on January 3 will try Homma on charges including responsibility for the cruel Bataan death march. Lt. Col. Frank E. Meek, the chief prosecutor, said today.

A fidgity Homma was returned in disgrace today to the palatial residence from which in 1942 he had watched Corregidor captives forced to march in humiliation. There, where he once lived as a conqueror, he pleaded innocent at his arraignment on charges of responsibility for the death march and for 67,000 deaths among American and Filipino prisoners of war, internees and civilians.

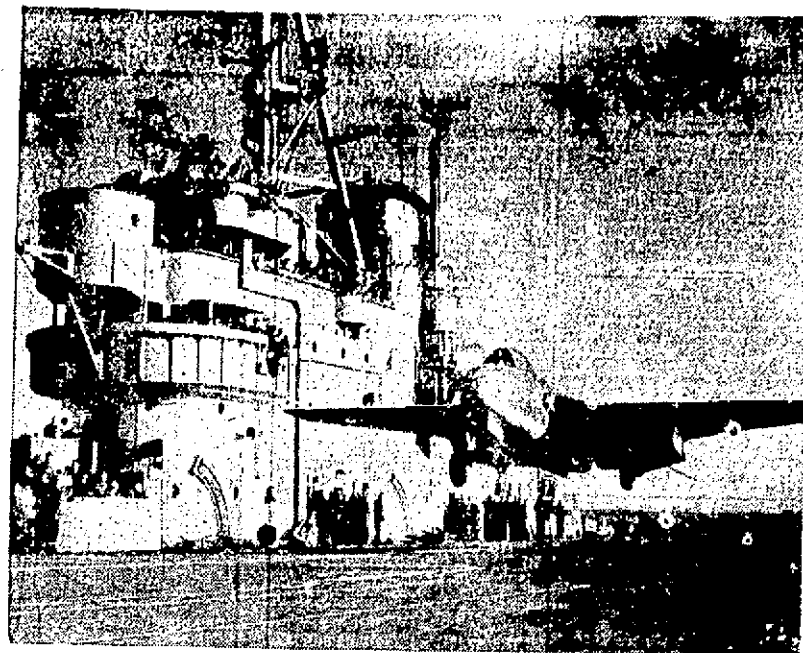

Judge Sets Trial Date For Mrs. Humphrey

Passaic, N. J., Dec. 19 (AP)—Passaic County Judge Alexander M. MacLeod set January 28 as the trial date for Mrs. Geneva Humphrey, 47, after she pleaded innocent yesterday to a charge of murdering her husband, Hugh Edwin Humphrey, 43, by chasing him up an alley and crushing him to death with an automobile in Singac, December 7.

Mrs. Humphrey, who was indicted by the grand jury December 14, told Judge MacLeod she had no counsel.

Humphrey's death is alleged to have occurred after a quarrel over another woman. On the night of the alleged slaying, the Humphreys, who were employed by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, noted suffragist leader, of New Rochelle, N. Y., came to Singac to make arrangements for disposing of their Mountain View home, where they resided while working in a Patterson war plant during the war.

He said "there is no evidence of any act of violence thus far."

Flu Epidemic Is Hitting Adults Buffalo to Albany

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 19 (AP)—An outbreak of influenza, which a New York State Health Department official says can be termed "an epidemic," has forced closing of many schools on a broad belt from Buffalo to Albany and is spreading from school children to adults.

Dr. Anne Bablke, medical consultant in the department's division of communicable diseases, said yesterday that there was an increasing prevalence of the disease but that exact figures were lacking on the number of persons stricken.

School children, she said, appeared most susceptible to the disease but some industries have reported increasing numbers of absences because of flu and cold.

Engineer Gives Testimony
Boston, Dec. 19 (AP)—The first engineer of the Liberty Ship John Hathorn was on record today as saying that he recovered his engine's full speed when he had been ordered "full speed ahead" just before the vessel crashed into Charlestown bridge Monday.

Samuel P. B. Standish, 39, of Tulon, Pa., who said he had been charged from the position of chief two weeks ago, told a court guard in jury board yesterday that he misunderstood the signals. Engineer said train service over the bridge might be resumed tonight and motor traffic possibly in a week.

Christmas Seals Are Being Sold At Post Office

Christmas Seals, which finance the work of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, are on sale Monday in a booth located at the central post office in Kingston. Young women of the Junior League who have volunteered to assist the association during the campaign are in charge of the booth.

The booth seal sale, according to Mrs. Robert Moseley, supplementary events chairman, is for the convenience of visitors to the city and any residents who may not have received seals by mail, or wish a few more for their cards, letters and packages. The Christmas Seal Sale opened on November 19 with the distribution of seals through the mail and will continue until Christmas.

Funds raised, Mrs. Moseley said, will be used to support such projects of the association as the county wide X-ray survey, the educational and promotional work in the prevention of tuberculosis and social diseases, and the program of health building through the work of a full time nutritionist.

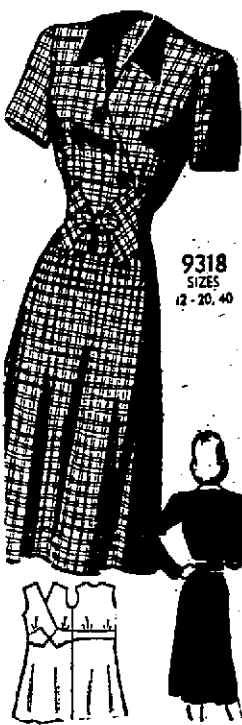

Extra seals may be had from Mrs. Dorothy Hocmer in Ellenville, Mrs. Fabian L. Russell in Saugerties, Mrs. Glenn Clarke in Milton, Mrs. LeGrand Haviland, Jr., in Highland, and from Mrs. Raymond Morris and at New Paltz State Teachers' College in New Paltz.

12-Inch Snow Is Predicted Around Metropolitan Area

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—This city's millions were ankle-deep in snow during the morning rush hour, and the weather bureau predicted the snowfall would continue until tomorrow morning, probably leaving a blanket of 12 inches.

It was a lashing snowstorm that beat into pedestrians' faces and visibility was extremely low. Bouts in New York harbor had to pick their way cautiously. Some planes continued to fly in and out of La Guardia Airport, but many trips were cancelled early.

The storm started at 3 a. m. Until then New York had suffered four days of bitter cold but escaped the snowfall which plagued upper New York state.

Even stronger winds were expected to accompany the snow later today. Northeast storm warnings were posted from Eastport, Me., to Cape Hatteras, New York is halfway between.

The temperature was 24 here at 8 a. m., six degrees above that of yesterday morning. The weather bureau predicted the thermometer would rise no more than one degree today.

Thousands of street cleaners were ordered out early to get a head start on the project of keeping streets open.

Not So Australia

Sydney, Dec. 19 (AP)—While most of the United States was shivering, barelegged Australian women today were wearing sleeveless "midriff" dresses and men discarded coats to gain relief from the fierce heat wave which beset the continent.

Thousands streamed daily to beaches along Australia's east coast.

Temperatures rose to 120 degrees in the shade at some inland points, and in New South Wales the mercury has topped the 100-mark daily for nine days. It was 101 here Monday. But southerly winds today reduced temperatures to the seventies.

Eleven deaths have been attributed to the heat wave.

NO LONGER CAY VIENNA—Amid the rubble and wreckage of the famous Wurstel Prater in Vienna, Austria, two boys and a man gather bricks and wood to repair and heat their bombed out home. A burned out ferris wheel stands in the background.

SNOW ON NUERNBERG—The city of Nuernberg, Germany, on which the eyes of the world are turned for news of the trial of Nazi war criminals, is clothed in a mantle of snow.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

Shanghai, Dec. 19 (AP)—"Uncle Dan" Barbey has beaten on more closed doors than any brush salesman; he has landed on more enemy shores than any viking known to history.

Yet, contrary to most professional military opinion, he believes wars can be avoided.

Sixty-two times has 55-year-old Vice Adm. Daniel Edward Barbey superintended the planting of the American flag on foreign-held beaches. The entire Pacific battle zone is his personal fiefdom.

His reward for being the most expert man in the navy on amphibious landings is command of the American Seventh Fleet, but honors mean less to this unusual officer than action or his feeling of service.

That's why his memories go back to the days when he led the Seventh Amphibious Force—the force which eventually landed a million men and a million and a half tons of supplies on Japanese waterfronts.

Unlike many career warriors, Barbey does not believe his own specialty holds the key to all success in warfare. He makes no predictions as to the future of amphibious operations, although he is proud of the role they played in the Pacific War.

"No one weapon won the war, nor did any one arm," he said, "but amphibious operations first made victory possible. We couldn't have gone into Japan for another full year without them."

Unorthodox and strongly opinionated, Barbey is one of those many-talented and endlessly energetic men like Benjamin Franklin or Da Vinci, or a six-day bicycle racer. But he doesn't seem to waste time going around in circles.

He has general Patton's invincible headlessness when the combat gets under way, but he plans for it as cautiously and thoroughly as the General. Omar Bradley, true-plumed hero of this last year's campaign, is another of those men who have the heroes' hope for justice as administrator of veterans' affairs.

Barbey is a big man, proud of his strength, who in his youth climbed the Matterhorn as a lark and swam the tricky Bosporus Straits just to see if he could swim it. Swimming still is his chief exercise and relaxation. He is genial but quick tempered; his anger fades quickly, leaving no aftermath of grudges.

One of the most refreshing things about Barbey, one of the great fighters of his generation, is his optimism on the possibility of permanent peace—a thing most professional army and navy men think is impossible.

"I believe that war can be avoided and people can live in peace as they should," he said. "The world organization that can accomplish it must be molded."

Dorothy Shaver Elected

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—Miss Dorothy Shaver, first vice-president of Lord & Taylor since 1937, has been elected president of the $32,000,000 Fifth Avenue store corporation—the first woman to head a department store of such size. Miss Shaver, a leading innovator in department store merchandising, advertising and display, succeeds Walter Hoving, store head for the past 10 years, who announced his resignation yesterday. He plans to form a new nationwide amalgamation of department stores and other retail properties.

Five-Inch Snowfall Is Forecast by Bureau

Kingston's third snowstorm of the month started falling at 6:15 o'clock this morning, and by 9 o'clock more than an inch had fallen. While the storm was in progress during the early morning hours the official city thermometer was registering 14 degrees.

At the Board of Public Works it was said that plowing of the streets would start as soon as the snow reached a depth of four inches.

Superintendent Ernest Steuding said he had called up the weather bureau at Albany, had had been informed that it was expected that fully five inches would fall before the storm ceased.

issued a warning to auto owners that any cars left parked on the streets and interfering with the work of plowing and removing the snow would be towed away. Temperatures in the city Tuesday ranged from a low of 8 degrees in the morning to a high of 25 degrees in the afternoon. This morning at 1 o'clock the official thermometer was recording 11 degrees.

New York city's weather bureau this morning forecast 12 inches there.

UNCLAIMED ASHES YEN Undertakers in Johannesburg.

South Africa, are becoming embarrassed by a large number of boxes, each containing the cremated remains of some resident, which are accumulating on their premises. They have been returned to the undertaker after funerals, but not claimed by relatives. Undertakers say the situation probably is due not so much to callousness by relatives as to their failure to realize that remains must be cared for after cremation. And undertakers can not dispose of the ashes without the consent of relatives.
